

CLAIMS

What is claimed is:

1) In combination:

A wrench head having a shaft with a first end and a second end, said first end of said shaft being coupled to said wrench head, a drive section extending from said second end, and a locking member extending from said drive section; wherein said shaft is approximately circular in cross section, and said drive section is approximately square in cross section and; and an extension having an extension collar, said extension collar having a hollow portion that includes a drive hollow portion configured for accepting and engaging said drive section of said shaft of said wrench head inserted therein, said drive hollow portion of said extension is approximately square in cross section for accepting and engaging said drive section of said shaft of said wrench head inserted therein, said opening within a sidewall of said hollow portion of said extension collar, said opening being located to engage said locking member of said shaft of said wrench head, and a shaft hollow section configured for accepting and engaging a portion of said shaft of said wrench head inserted therein, said shaft hollow section of said extension is approximately circular in cross section for accepting and engaging a portion of said shaft of said wrench head inserted therein;

whereby said wrench head is operated using said extension as a handle.